

TITOLO: On the economic sustainability of a regional ecosystem

Abstract Progetto di Ricerca

"The research activity will take place in the PNRR project about the long-term sustainability of the ecosystem of the Emilia-Romagna Region, in particular concerning the aspects connected to circular economy. These will include, among others, CSR, green consumerism/prosumerism, remanufacturing, the diffusion of green technologies and the design of related policies. All of this will also require inter/transdisciplinary research on theoretical and possibly also empirical grounds"

Programma delle attività

"The initial phase will be for modelization for theoretical and policy analysis and data collection and analysis. In the second, the researcher will be actively involved in collective research in contact with firms and local authorities. This will also possibly include participation in living labs"
